Xiaomi Market works in a very similar way to the official Uptodown app. From the app's main window, you can quickly look at the most downloaded apps and access their information with just a touch. You can see screenshots of applications and description (in Chinese) by developers. In this Xiaomi market there is a different uptodown where you can find custom reviews and screenshots (not done by developers). One of the strengths of xiaomi market is that not only allows you to download applications, but also keeps them updated. In this sense it's as good as Google Play or Uptodown. Xiaomi market (me market) is interesting and alternative app store, especially for those who speak Chinese.
